Importantly, current Year 12 students are reminded that they cannot enrol in a CSP (Commonwealth Support Place) course at university without a Tax File Number, so it is worthwhile getting an application submitted early!

Students must apply for a TFN online and have their identity verified through an interview at a participating Australia Post office. To apply and also to find out about participating Post Offices, visit TFN Application

University of Tasmania

The Australian ICT industry needs 100,000 graduates by 2020

Did you know that 53% of ICT professionals work in industries outside of ICT itself, including tourism, financial services, health, education and government? ICT graduates from the University of Tasmania can look forward to a career as an ICT professional, able to mix technical knowledge with business expertise and manage the projects of the future. Ashlee Jensen's story is just one example.

Life Without Limits

Did you know that our current satellite based maps are off by 1.5m?

This is due to Australia's geodetic datum. A geodetic datum is the positioning system of a country, from which coordinates for maps are based. Australia's current datum, GDA94, is fixed to the country's tectonic plates. As our plates move, location based technologies that use satellite positioning systems such as GPS become less accurate.

This has a significant impact on our everyday lives, from the accuracy of the GPS on our smart phones to industries that rely on global coordinate reference systems including surveying, telecommunications, transport, agriculture and construction.

To close the widening gap between our datum and satellite positioning systems, Australia is introducing a new datum called GDA2020. By 2020, the datum will be aligned and will then convert to a dynamic datum, meaning moving coordinates can be tracked and updated in real time.

Click on the video below to find out more about the new datum and what it will mean for you and your students - <https://vimeo.com/191566518>
